Re: Violations of Political Reform Act by No on Prop 21 - Californians to Protect Affordable Housing - a Coalition of Housing Advocates, Renters, Businesses, Taxpayers, and Veterans (FPPC ID 1426377); No On Prop 21: Californians For Responsible Housing, a Coalition of Seniors, Veterans, Affordable Housing Advocates, Labor & Social Justice Organizations, Sponsored by California Apartment Association (FPPC ID 1421884); California Business Roundtable Issues PAC (FPPC ID 1264590); Blackstone Property Partners, L.P. and affiliated entities; Michael K. Hayde, including Western National Group and affiliated entities; and Geoffrey Palmer

To the Fair Political Practices Commission:

This firm is counsel to Yes on 21- Renters and Homeowners United to Keep Families in Their Homes, Sponsored by AIDS Healthcare Foundation (“Yes on 21”). At the request of Yes on 21, I am providing the Fair Political Practices Commission (“FPPC”) with this sworn complaint, on the basis of publicly available reporting and business records maintained by the State of California. Our review of these records reveals that the two primary opposition committees to Proposition 21, No on Prop 21 - Californians to Protect Affordable Housing - a Coalition of Housing Advocates, Renters, Businesses, Taxpayers, and Veterans (FPPC ID 1426377) and No On Prop 21: Californians For Responsible Housing, a Coalition of Seniors, Veterans, Affordable Housing Advocates, Labor & Social Justice Organizations, Sponsored by California Apartment Association (FPPC ID 1421884), have committed serious violations of the Political Reform Act. The nature of these violations has been to obscure the true source of money contributed to their campaigns: in short, money laundering.

Yes on 21 urges the FPPC to investigate these committee’s and their donors’ reporting methods, because doing so will shine a light on these duplicitous practices and the way in which these activities have undercut the powerful political reporting requirements established by the Legislature and enforced by the FPPC.

Californians to Protect Affordable Housing

Californians to Protect Affordable Housing (CPAH), and its top contributor, the California Business Roundtable Issues PAC (FPPC ID 1264590), have collaborated to shield the true source of CPAH's funding from the public. Here's what they've done:

- The Business Roundtable PAC, as a recipient committee, receives contributions from donors. It received a total $7,000,000 in contributions in June 2020 from entities related to Blackstone Property Partners, L.P., a well-known real estate investment entity. This PAC has also received $4,305,000 in contributions from Michael K. Hayde, CEO and chairman of Western National Group, which manages apartment communities throughout California, and $2,000,000 in contributions from Geoffrey Palmer, a Los Angeles real estate developer of rental apartments. (See Exhibit 1 [Form 460 for first half of 2020]; and Exhibit 2 [August 14 Form 497 reporting $2.5 million Hayde contribution].)
- These contributions are significantly higher than the contributions this same committee received during the election cycles of 2018 (when Proposition 10, also related to rent control, was on the ballot) and 2016. The sum total of contributions received in the entire year for 2018 was $1,210,500 (see Exhibit 3 [460 for period ending 12/31/2018]) and just $125,500 in the 2016 election cycle (see Exhibit 4 [460 for period ending 12/31/2016].)
- The Business Roundtable PAC has not kept these funds for itself. Rather, it has been making large contributions to two committees primarily formed to oppose statewide ballot measures: Proposition 15, and Proposition 21. (See Exhibit 2 [August 14 Form 497 reporting $1.5 million contributed Proposition 15 opposition and $1.5 million to Proposition 21 opposition]; Exhibit 5 [September 4 Form 497 reporting contributions of $3 million to Proposition 15 opposition & and $1 million to Proposition 21 opposition; and Exhibit 6 [September 11 Form 497 reporting contributions of $4.3 million to Proposition 15 opposition and $1 million to Proposition 21 opposition].) In both cases, the amount of money contributed has put the California Business Roundtable as the top contributor by far to these committees.

CPAH lists the Business Roundtable as a top contributor and includes that PAC on its disclaimer. But the public cannot easily see who it is that is funding the Business Roundtable – the information will not be included on the numerous mailers, television ads, and newspaper advertising that is required to bear CPAH’s disclaimer. Where the individual donors to the Business Roundtable have contributed in amounts that far exceed the contributions of the second highest contributor, the omission of this information is highly misleading. Moreover, the amount of money contributed by the Business Roundtable to CPAH and the opposition to Prop 15 suggests a coordinated effort between these entities.

This pattern raises significant questions and concerns. Has the Business Roundtable become a primarily formed committee for these two measures that appear on the same ballot? Were these contributions earmarked by the donors for contribution to the two opposition committees? Have the ballot measure committees correctly disclosed the source of the funds for their campaign? Are the disclaimers of those committees reflecting the top contributors as required by law?

The current disclaimer for the CPAH’s website is:

This disclaimer does not appear to be an accurate reflection of the top three contributors at this time. This is another separate violation of law. And the disclaimer certainly does not inform the public of the substantial funding provided to this committee by Blackstone, Hayde, and Palmer, who laundered it through the Business Roundtable.

While Blackstone, Hayde, and Palmer are free to contribute to committees advocating against Proposition 21, as they did in 2018 by contributing close to $12,000,000 to one committee primarily formed to opposition Proposition 10, in that instance Blackstone and Hayde were disclosed as top contributors and listed in the committee’s disclaimer. It is difficult to believe that these donors made these substantial contributions to the Business Roundtable without being fully aware that their contributions would be utilized to substantially fund opposition campaigns to Propositions 21 and 15. The history of these contributors cannot be ignored. Nor can the dramatic departure from the Business Roundtable's contribution patterns from recent past election cycles provide any basis for innocence now.

By contributing to the Business Roundtable instead of to CPAH directly, these donors have hidden themselves. The FPPC should investigate the suspicious circumstances of these contributions.

Californians For Responsible Housing

Californians for Responsible Housing ("CRH") has committed related violations of the Political Reform Act that result in the improper concealment of the true amount of contributions from certain corporate donors.

Government Code section 82015.5 requires the aggregation of contribution by entities under a variety of circumstances, including when an individual directs or controls an entity's contributions and when two or more entities make contributions that are directed or controlled by a majority of the same persons. All contributions made by entities that are majority owned by a person must be aggregated with the contributions of the majority owner and all other entities majority owned by that person, unless the entities act independently in their contribution making.

CRH has failed to aggregate contributions even when the contributions were provided under circumstances that reasonably should have indicated to CRH that the contributions were made by related entities. Exhibit 7 details a full analysis, based upon data obtained from the Secretary of State, of 43 contributions by business entities to CRH demonstrating that these contributions were made by closely related entities on the exact same date, casting doubt on the independence of the decision to contribute. Contributions to CRH were downloaded from the Cal Access system, and business information was obtained from the Secretary of State's business entities database.

For instance, on August 17, 22 contributions were by LLCs located in the same zip code in San Diego. A search on the California Secretary of State's Business Entities search revealed that the vast majority of the 22 entities have F and F Income Properties as the general partner or managing entity, and that either Dan Feder or Megan Danbach is the manager. All of the companies are registered at one of three addresses. Putting this information together with the fact that the contributions were made on the same date, it appears unlikely that the contributions were not made under the control of the same person. These contributions total $52,900 – more than enough to qualify the donor as a California Major Donor.

The same pattern exists in the other contributions detailed on Exhibit 7. There were twelve contributions on August 5 from entities in Hayward, all controlled by the same manager, totaling $60,950. There were three contributions on June 26 from entities in Boca Raton, Florida, all of which are registered in the State of California to the same Dallas, Texas address – the address associated with Maple Multiple Family, which does business as Trammell Crow. These June 26 contributions from Boca Raton entities totaled $73,700. There are several other examples on Exhibit 7 of this pattern of concealment of the related nature of these corporate entities. Exhibit 8 contains an appendix of all of the Late Contribution Reports containing the records of each of these contributions.

The Legislature amended the Political Reform Act specifically to address the need to aggregate contributions made under these circumstances. By failing to aggregate the contributions, CRH has allowed property owners and landlords to hide behind anonymous sounding corporate identities, without disclosing the full magnitude of their opposition to rent control for the public to see and evaluate. The concealment of the true source of funds in these reports is a serious violation that should be investigated and penalized.

Conclusion

The voters and the Legislature have consistently affirmed that Californians have a right to know who is behind campaign contributions. This state has enacted some of the most rigorous and effective political disclosure laws in the country. The FPPC must step in here to curb these outrageous evasions of the law.

Sincerely,
