ALBUM NOTES, MONROE KILLY ALBUM "BOOK 2", 1929-1936 (AV1991.95.1)

page 42: Eleanor Anderson, Monroe's cousin, worked at Kodak as a hand colorist (married name Nielsen) page 54 (and many other pages): Minneapolis Camera Club pictorial work was done by Monroe from 1933-1942, the years when he was a member. The negatives were sold to an advertising agency and subsequently lost.

page 110: Monroe was experimenting with a miniature camera, borrowed from the Kodak store where he worked. The photos show State and Orpheum vaudeville performances before the movie.

page 138: "My Attic" - Monroe's Indian collection was kept in the attic of 3849 2nd Ave. So. in the beginning.
