Q10 Now I'm going to read you some reasons some people have given to support a full trial that includes hearing all of the evidence and calling witnesses, and ask you if you find it a very convincing, somewhat convincing, a little convincing, or not at all a convincing reason to support a full trial that includes hearing all of the evidence and calling witnesses. Here's the first one: "Juries always have to weigh evidence impartially in order to make the best possible decision about someone's innocence or guilt. As jurors in an impeachment trial, Senators must be given the opportunity to review documents and hear from witnesses in this case, just as in any other trial."

Very convincing 64%
Somewhat convincing 9%

Q11 Here is the next one: "Senate Republicans are trying to cover up potential wrongdoing by President Trump. Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell recently said on national television, 'Everything I do during this, I'm coordinating with White House counsel.' All Senators and the American people deserve to hear all of the evidence and hear the testimony of witnesses to determine Trump's guilt or innocence, not immediately dismiss these serious charges."

Very convincing 60%
Somewhat convincing 7%
A little convincing 6%
Not at all convincing 23%
Not sure 3%

Q12 Here is the final one: "President Trump prevented some of his most senior aides from testifying during the House impeachment inquiry. His former national security adviser expressed concerns about the withholding of military aid from Ukraine which he referred to as a 'drug deal.' His chief of staff admitted in a press conference to withholding the aid. Senators should hear from these witnesses to determine whether Trump committed crimes worthy of removal from office."
